

Municipal Anti-Smoke Laws Seen

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. surgeon general's report on the smoking-health controversy inspired some state and local governmental bodies to consider anti-cigarette action officially.

In California, the Los Angeles county board of supervisors, noting that the county hospitals treated 493 cases of lung cancer last year, asked for a report on steps necessary to outlaw cigarette sales in the hospitals.

The New York State Senate established a special committee to determine whether the surgeon general's report labeling cigarette smoking a major health hazard called for state action.

The Massachusetts Legislature has received bills to require warning labels on cigarette packages and to raise the age ban on cigarette sales from 18 to 21.

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health has ordered a halt to the sale of cigarettes at all state-operated hospitals.

A spokesman said the department will set up clinics in various parts of the state to help volunteer groups stop smoking and it will establish what it calls a "Teen Council" to devise an effective program to halt smoking among teenagers.

The Jamesburg (N.J.) Borough voted unanimously to instruct the police department to enforce an 81-year-old New Jersey law prohibiting cigarette sales to anyone under 16.

Many states forbid tobacco sales to minors. Illinois, since June 3, 1957, has had a law forbidding anyone to manufacture, sell or give away cigarettes under penalty of $100 fine and 30 days in jail if not enforced.

The city council of Eastland, Tex., population 3,342, gave first-reading passage to an ordinance setting maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and three years in jail for smoking or selling cigarettes.

The ordinance, city officials admit, would itself be illegal because Texas state statutes set a top sentence of a $200 fine, and no jail, for violation of municipal laws.

But Mayor Don Pierson said the ordinance focused "the community's attention on the serious problem of smoking and its relation to cancer."

Alienation Suit Names Chi Priest

CHICAGO (AP)—A Roman Catholic priest has been sued for $250,000 by a businessman who charges the priest with stealing his wife's affections.

Robert P. McCord Jr., 38, a North Tarrytown, N.Y., salesman, filed the damage suit last August but the suit was suppressed until papers could be served on the Rev. Donald B. Runkle, 50, now assigned to St. Mary's Church in Odessa, Tex.

McCord charges in his suit that Father Runkle and McCord's former wife, Patricia, 36, had illicit relations while Father Runkle was assistant pastor of Immaculate Conception Parish in suburban Highland Park.

McCord divorced his wife on July 3, 1963, charging adultery. The divorce suit alleged that Mrs. McCord and Father Runkle had illicit relations between 1958 and 1962.

McCord, former president of the Congress Paper Box Co in Chicago, was awarded custody of the five McCord children, ranging in age from 4 to 14 years.

Mrs. McCord, who was organized in the Immaculate Conception Church, is a kindergarten teacher in Highland Park.

Willie Mays to Draw $105,000

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Center fielder Willie Mays, one of the highest paid players in the history of baseball, has signed his 1964 contract with the San Francisco Giants. It was announced Wednesday.

Terms were not announced but it is believed the 32-year-old superstar will get about the same as last year—$105,000.

Peace His Goal, Says Sukarno

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—Indonesian President Sukarno, in a meeting today with U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, reaffirmed his intention of seeking a peaceful solution to the Malaysian crisis.

Kennedy's press secretary, Edwin Guthman, said after the 90-minute talk that the attorney general and the president agreed the Malaysian dispute "should be solved by consultation."

Sukarno also agreed last week in conferences with Philippine President Diosdado Macapagal to seek a peaceful solution of the crisis resulting from their opposition to the new Federation of Malaysia.

A spokesman for Sukarno said the Kennedy-Sukarno meeting established a "favorable climate" for a future summit meeting of Sukarno and Macapagal with Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia.

Spokesmen for both Kennedy and Sukarno said their first conversation today was "very friendly" and paved the way for personal exchanges among the three Asian government chiefs involved in the dispute.

Woman's Status to Be Examined

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus created today a Governor's Commission on the Status of Women and asked it to explore social, political, economic and legal problems of women on the state level.

He named Mrs. Charlotte Gardner of Russellville as chairman of the 22-member commission.

The membership roster includes all four female members of the Arkansas House of Representatives—Mrs. Dove T. Mulkey of Nashville, Mrs. Gladys Martin of Stamps, Mrs. Doris McCastlain of Brinkley and Mrs. Bernice L. Kizer of Fort Smith.

Faubus said studies by the commission "will do much in strengthening family life and encouraging women to assume their rightful full partnership in the continuing development of our state."

The commission will do on the state level what the President's Commission on the Status of Women, appointed in 1961, is doing nationally.

The commission held its initial meeting in the governor's reception room today and Faubus met with them.

"I believe it is necessary to take a new look at the role women play in our state's economy, the variety of their tasks and the difficulties women sometimes encounter due to outdated attitudes and practices," Faubus said. "We must in the further development of our state constructively use the abilities of all our citizens."

Several key state officials including Education Commissioner Arch W. Ford, Employment Security Division Administrator James L. Bland, Labor Commissioner Bill Laney, Welfare Director Jim Phillips and Health Officer Dr. J. T. Herron are members of the commission.

Jerry Lewis Is Sued by Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Comedian Jerry Lewis has been sued for $1 million by a writer accusing him of slander and libel.

The writer, Lor Ann Land, contended in the suit filed in Superior Court at Los Angeles that Lewis made slanderous statements which appeared in Hedda Hopper's syndicated column Jan. 29, 1963.

Miss Land claimed Lewis told Miss Hopper she had sued him many times. She said she has sued him only once, last Jan. 21 on charges of plagiarism and breach of contract.

Another important discovery came because the second and third corpses were of persons killed in automobile accidents. Both had suffered broken necks, which prevented draining the blood from the jugular vein in the neck, as in the first transfusion.

"We had to drain the blood from the heart—which yielded about 200 cubic centimeters," he said. "This has its advantages, since it doesn't necessitate tilting the body to get the blood in to the neck and depend on the gravitational flow."

Faubus to Study Poll Tax Option

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he will confer with his legal advisers, the attorney general and members of the legislature before deciding the state's course in case the poll tax is outlawed before this year's elections.

An anti-poll tax amendment will become a part of the U.S. Constitution as soon as it is ratified by one more state and this is expected soon. The South Dakota Legislature may approve it Saturday.

Faubus' only course, if it is held that the poll tax cannot be used for voter registration, would be to call a special session of the legislature to enact another registration law.

The 1963 legislature argued at length about voter registration but failed to come up with an acceptable bill. Arguments centered around whether the registrant should have to state his party affiliation and over whether relatives should be permitted to register for the voter.

Faubus has talked of the possibility of using the poll tax in the July 28 and Aug. 11 primary elections because these may be considered state elections and not fall under the federal amendment.

But some kind of voter registration would have to be in effect before the November general election.

Transfusion From Corpse Is Successful

By AL SANDNER

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP)—Russian accomplishments with blood transfusions spurred a Michigan research team to discover how corpses could provide the blood to keep injured persons alive in the battlefield in disaster areas.

Dr. Jack Kevorkian and researchers Neal Nicol and Edwin Rea of Pontiac General Hospital announced Friday night that they had performed the first known direct transfusions of blood from human corpses to living persons.

The process, Kevorkian said, is a simple one "with what appears to us to be tremendous military possibilities."

Kevorkian had read Russian medical journals that described the taking of blood from persons who had just died, storing it and then transfusing it into living patients.

"I asked our department head, Dr. John J. Marra, if we could try to repeat the Russian experiments," Kevorkian said. "He didn't think the idea would work, but he gave us a go-ahead."

Kevorkian and his assistants gave blood from corpses to living volunteers after storing it 12 to 15 days without adding the chemicals that are put in stored blood to prevent coagulation, he said.

"Then came the next logical step—the direct transfer of blood from a dead person to a living patient," Kevorkian said. "This was something the Russians hadn't done."

"Everybody in the lab became a volunteer, and we agreed that whoever's blood type came up next would take a transfusion."

This turned out to be Nicol. Although a dead person's blood may be tapped up to six hours after death, the team worked quickly and transferred 400 cubic centimeters—about a pint—within half an hour.

"Nicol never flinched and this calmed any uneasiness that anyone else might have felt about the experiment," Kevorkian said. "And after we finished the second experiment, just about anybody in the hospital would have been willing to try it."

Virginia Bruce Wins Divorce

Oklahoma in Praise Our State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Oklahoma State Rep. Pat McCue said today that "it is obvious Arkansas is going places" in industrial development and Oklahoma would like to know about its methods.

McCue is chairman of the Oklahoma legislature's Joint Committee on Commerce and Industry which met today with the Arkansas Legislative Council, officials of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission and other business and government leaders at the capitol.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus made a courtesy call on the group.

Little River County Rep. Marion Crank, speaker of the Arkansas House, reviewed Arkansas' industrial development laws and said the key to success has been a three-way tie-up among the AIDC, local industrial development groups and the Industrial Research and Extension center in Little Rock.

Crank said that before the AIDC was set up in 1955, Arkansas' industrial development program consisted mainly of each newly elected governor meeting industrial leaders at a banquet in New York.

Col. Carl Hinkle, AIDC director, advised the Oklahomaans to educate their people on what industry will do for them and to prepare each area for the coming of industry.

"We in Arkansas would do anything to get an industry, even put on a side show," Hinkle said.

Fire Protection Loan Is Granted

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Farmers Home Administration announced today that the town of Wababeska in Jefferson County will get a $97,500 loan to provide fire protection and a sanitary water supply.

Some 130 families, two schools and several business establishments will be served by the water system initially.

Wababeska is 18 miles north-west of Pine Bluff it has no public water supply. Residents use individual wells. There is no fire protection.

The project will cost $100,000, said H. H. Hankins, state director of the Farmers Home Administration. Of that, $2,500 will be furnished by the town.

A 50,000 gallon storage tank will be built and a water supply well with an output of 250 gallons per minute will be dug. A treatment plant will be constructed.

The loan will be repaid over 40 years.

Property Better Than Alimony

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former schoolteacher Donna R. Ferguson has received a divorce settlement her lawyers say is better than alimony.

She waived alimony Thursday in divorcing Robert B. Ferguson, 40, an oil geologist.

Under terms of a division of community property, each will draw $105,000 cash now and $40,000 per month thereafter. That will give both an annual income of $480,000, plus an extra $105,000 this year.

The arrangement will continue if Mrs. Ferguson remarries. Alimony doesn't continue.

Mrs. Ferguson, 31, charged extreme cruelty. The couple married May 11, 1956, in San Gabriel, Calif., and separated last Oct. 15.

County-Wide Drive Will Begin Tuesday, Jan. 21; 5th Year for Hempstead

By MARY ANITA LASETER

"One for all and all for one," the phrase made famous by the Three Musketeers, is also the principle on which the United Fund Drive is based.

"Because it is a single, joint appeal for yearly gifts covering the greater part of the needs of privately supported welfare activities in Hope, the United Fund represents a big forward step in soliciting financial support for worthwhile organizations," said Wayne Russell, United Fund Drive chairman.

This is the fifth year in Hempstead County a United Fund campaign has been conducted. During the past years the value of such a drive has been proven with the reduction of two things—campaign expenses and the duplication of efforts involved in the same volunteer workers functioning on several fund drives. This represents savings for firms whose employees work in campaigns, a savings that, translated into dollars, could better be used to meet needs.

Few individuals can give enough in cash at one time to meet the needs of the many United Fund affiliates and services. For that reason a scale of giving has been worked out based on the state each citizen of our community has in all the United Fund agencies. The suggested Fair Share gift from persons paid on an hourly basis is one hour's pay per month. The suggested gift from salaried personnel ranges from six-tenths of one per cent to two per cent of annual net income.

United Fund President Clifford Franks explained, "The United Fund way is the sensible way because it costs as much to raise one dollar for a single agency as it does for 15. Savings in campaign expenses means many additional dollars directed toward service to the residents of Hope and Hempstead County."

Again this year 15 agencies will receive funds from the United Fund Drive in Hempstead County. They include the Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, United Cerebral Palsy, Arkansas Mental Health Assn., Salvation Army, Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, local underprivileged children supervised by the Junior Auxiliary, March of Dimes, Heart Fund, Cancer Drive, Tuberculosis (Christmas Seals), Crippled Children (Easter Seals), Multiple Sclerosis, and Muscular Dystrophy.

In instances when the organization refuses the funds offered it and makes an individual drive of its own, the money allocated for it remains in a local fund for use by patients suffering with that type of illness. Cancer and Multiple Sclerosis patients have been recipients of such help this past year.

Guilty Plea in Death of Infant

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 29-year-old operator of an unlicensed nursery home pleaded guilty to manslaughter Friday in the death of a 10-month-old boarder.

U.S. Embassy Staff Moved to Safety

By JOE MCGOWAN JR.

PANAMA (AP)—U.S. Embassy personnel were housed safely in the Canal Zone today after Panama took the final step in severing diplomatic relations with the United States.

Meanwhile, Soviet Premier Khrushchev threw Soviet support behind the Panamanians and denounced U.S. action in the Canal Zone.

Most U.S. Embassy staff members and their dependents were evacuated to the Canal Zone Friday night shortly before an anti-American student demonstration and several hours after Panama said it was recalling the remainder of its diplomatic staff from Washington.

Panama asked the United States to recall its embassy staff from Panama City, but a U.S. State Department official said the request did not apply to consular officials, Peace Corps volunteers or members of the U.S. Agency for International Development.

Because of the exceptions, the United States does not regard the break as final. U.S. officials also indicated that President Johnson's troubleshooter, Edwin M. Martin, planned to remain in Panama. Peace efforts are expected to continue to loosen a deadlock between the two countries over a 1903 treaty which gave the United States perpetual control over the canal.

Barry Asks Reliefs to Earn Pay

By WALTER R. MEARS

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, calling for an attack on what he termed "the Santa Claus" of the "government handout," has urged that able-bodied men on relief be put to work for their welfare check.

The Arizona Republican accused President Johnson of making "Santa Clause promises" in his State of the Union message.

Johnson's program adds up to saying "that the bureaucracy in Washington can solve all our problems, end poverty and create prosperity," Goldwater said. Carrying his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination into the home town of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, his only announced rival, Goldwater charged Wednesday night the Democratic party has "reduced rewards for good work and also reduced the penalties for laziness or waste."

He told the Economic Club of New York that the government should investigate "whether the attitude or the action of the small group not participating in the general prosperity has anything to do with the situation."

In his State of the Union message Johnson outlined proposals that would cost about one billion dollars over the next few years to combat poverty.

Johnson also proposed a $97.9 billion federal budget, saying it would cut expenditures $500 million below those of this fiscal year.

Goldwater called that "a fast shuffle of figures" and said Johnson actually wants $2 billion more than Congress authorized for this year.

Goldwater said that to deal with the problem of poverty:

"I would, if I were in a position to do so, call a conference with participation from all of the states to study this problem of poverty and jobs, to pin down the figures, to survey all the solutions and not seek to impose the federal one."

Rice Sale Aids Fight on Surplus

By OVID A. MARTIN

Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The authorized sale of $75 million worth of rice to the Soviet Union broadens the benefits of the government's farm export subsidy program for the communists.

Rice, like wheat, is sold abroad under an export subsidy designed to enable U.S. exporters to meet lower world prices. As in the case of wheat, the farm price support program holds domestic prices of rice above competitive levels in world markets.

The sale to the Soviets will be for slightly more than 1 million hundredweight. The current export subsidy ranges from 62 cents a hundredweight for a low-grade class known as screenings and brewers rice to $329 for the top grades. The rate on the Russian sale is expected to average around $250 a hundredweight.

The Agriculture Department now is offering export subsidies on cotton and dairy products as well as on wheat and rice. It also makes similar payments on feed grains—corn, barley and sorghum grain—when domestic rates are out of line with world prices. But for some time, it has not been necessary to make such payments on these grains.

The total export subsidies paid last year were close to $625 million. The department also has at times paid export subsidies on flax-seed, dry beans, tobacco and a few minor commodities when excess supplies have existed and U.S. prices have been too high to enable exports to make sales without the subsidies. The present subsidy on cotton is 8.5 cents a pound or about one-fourth the domestic price. The wheat subsidy averages about 65 cents a bushel or also about one-fourth the domestic price. The domestic price of rice at export points averages around $7.50 a hundred pounds.

The rice export payment is roughly one-third the U.S. price.

park call for, in addition to the museum, picnic sites, camp grounds and a boat dock on the river. It will be the only state park along U.S. Highway 67 between Little Rock and the Missouri line. Mrs. Luker estimated that it will be more than a year before the park is ready for use.

Interest Rate Heads Upward

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst NEW YORK (AP) — Now that businessmen have convinced themselves that 1964 is going to be bigger and better they're going to be seeking more credit. And that's likely to mean higher interest costs.

Anyway that's how many New York bankers see it. And they reason that the government won't object too much unless credit gets too tight for faster economic growth.

For one thing, basic interest rates have been rising in a number of European countries, always a temptation for idle American funds to go overseas. This Washington doesn't want because it adds to the U.S. deficit in its balance of payments, which last year apparently was somewhere near the 1962 level of $3.5 billion despite all efforts to lower the surplus of outflowing dollars over returning ones.

If interest rates go up here, bankers contend, this will hold the funds at home and maybe even attract more from Europe. Bankers argue that an interest rate rise would do this much more effectively than the proposed tax on American purchases from foreigners of foreign securities.

Federal Reserve banks last summer raised their charge for loans to member banks to 3½ per cent from 3 per cent. But short-term loan rates have often been above that of late, making it possible for a bank to borrow from the Fed and lend to others at a profit. The banks' prime rate which they charge large borrowers with top credit ratings has stayed at 4½ per cent since the middle of 1960.

Financial circles are talking again of a possible rise in the Fed's discount rate from the present 3½ per cent, and perhaps soon thereafter a rise in both the short-term rates and the prime rate.

This depends, of course, on Washington's assessment of its foreign and domestic monetary policies, and on the expected rise in demand by American business for more credit.

Bankers seem surer of the latter than of the change in official policies, where even more cross-currents are involved. The trend in other leading financial nations may play a big part in the decision. At the moment the trend is toward higher interest charges, chiefly to curb the threat of further inflation in several European nations.

If 1964 turns out as good as it is billed now, bankers figure that rising personal incomes and consumer demands will team up with business expansion to revive the demand for business credit which has been on the light side for many months.

Rising demand can lead to higher interest charges, and this can spread all along the line to the large and small borrower alike.

Integration Plan Sought in Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) —

Negro attorneys for a group of Huntsville, Ala. parents have proposed a plan for desegregating the first six grades of Huntsville's public schools.

The proposal, presented in US District Court Thursday, was part of the attorney's objections to a plan submitted by the Huntsville Board of Education. It included the redrawing of school zone lines without racial discrimination.

The board offered a plan, under court orders, to desegregate some 12th grade classrooms this month and 11th and 12th grade classes next fall.

The plan suggested by the attorneys calls for desegregation of the first six grades next fall, the seventh through ninth by 1965 and grades 10 through 12 by the 1966 school term.

27th Minuteman Missile Launched

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A Strategic Air Command combat crew launched a Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile Thursday the Air Force announced. Air Force spokesmen said the operational missile was the 27th Minuteman launched from this West Coast space center.

The present subsidy on cotton is 8.5 cents a pound or about one-fourth the domestic price. The wheat subsidy averages about 65 cents a bushel or also about one-fourth the domestic price. The domestic price of rice at export points averages around $7.50 a hundred pounds.

The rice export payment is roughly one-third the U.S. price.

Mrs. Calvin Edward King

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Webb of Route 1, Mineral Springs, announce the marriage of their daughter, Rachael Marie, to Calvin Edward King, son of Mr. and Mrs. David J. King, Hope.

The wedding was an event of Thursday, January 9th, at 6:30 o'clock in the evening in Hot Springs. The Rev. Dexter Blewins, pastor of the Park Place Baptist church, Hot Springs officiated.

Miss Georgia Bankson of Malvern was the maid of honor and George McGill of Hope served the groom as best man.

The bride is a graduate of Saratoga High School, attended Southern State College and now is a junior at Henderson State Teachers College where she is an Art major. Her sorority is Alpha Sigma Tau.

The groom is a pre-med student at Ouachita Baptist College where he is a junior. His social club is Sigma Alpha Sigma.

Mr. and Mrs. King are now at home in Arkadelphia where both will continue their studies.

TAKE WARNING FROM THE COLLYE BROTHERS!

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: You write often about the dangers of overpossessiveness, especially where parent and their children are concerned. You say, "Let go, push the youngsters out into the world. Make them stand on their own feet."

This has me worried.

We are a happy family of six: my wife and I and our two boys and two girls. We married young and, in a sense, have grown up with our children. From the time they were kids—the eldest is now 25—we've always done things as a group: played, worked, studied and enjoyed every minute of our "togetherness." We all love music and, when the children were still small, formed our own orchestra; my wife played the piano, me the cello, our two girls the violin, the boys flute and oboe. It's been this same with everything else; housecleaning, working, reading, even vacationing—teamwork. We never feel the need of friends, outside interludes or clubs because we have each other.

Only last night at dinner our oldest daughter said she never intended to marry—life was so much fun at home. Her sister and brothers agreed. Frankly, this has my wife and I worried. Have we been selfish in keeping them all so close to us? Is there such a thing as too much togetherness? —Concerned Father

Dear Concerned: Yes, there certainly is such a thing as overplaying the togetherness theme. Much as you and your wife enjoy our life with the children and they with you, each of them should be encouraged to function as individuals and not a unit.

Force them to form friendships and develop interests outside the home. Otherwise they will become so dependent upon the family that they can never function apart from it.

Take warning from the Collye brothers, the hermits of Harlem. Having discovered the strange brothers and been the first to write about them, the story of their lives became as familiar to me as my own. Like you and your wife, their father and mother encompassed them in a wall of possessive love and encouraged them, by sharing their interests in music and medicine (the mother was an opera singer, the father a doctor) to live within that wall—in their case an opulent brownstone of the carriage-day era on Upper Fifth Avenue.

First the father died, then the mother and, while in their late 20s, the brothers were left to face a strange world alone. Unable to take it, they drew the blinds, locked the doors and became hermits.

Of course, theirs is an extreme case but it could happen to your children. Shove them out in the stream of life before it is too late! Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Cautious Parents."

Dear Helen: Tell lovesick males to be guided by Shakespeare's test, "Is she kind as she is fair?" Beauty dwells with kindness. Tell fathers to be the advisers of their daughters. Mine was. —Happy Great-Grandmother

Dear Happy: May I add a footnote to your advice—some lines which are inscribed on a picture in the office of our dog's vet, Dr. James Kinney? "The Golden Links of Character"

"I believe in Loyalty, the basis of true character; Wisdom, which directs Loyalty toward good; Confidence which destroys fear; Faith, which conquers all tings; Patience which crushes intolerance; Intelligent Ambition, the source of dynamic power; Hopeful Expectancy, the basis of Accomplishment; Loving Courage, which knows no defeat; With these qualities, my character is complete."

The picture which carried these lines was a water color of six Luellen setters presented to H. V. Kaltenborn, the radio commentator, by the Young Men's Christian Association of Duluth, Minn., in 1939.

I asked Dr. Kinney how he happened to have it. "Mr. Kaltenborn loaned me that picture to hang in my office," he said. "His dogs were patients of mine. He thought the picture might be an inspiration to the owners of other patients here."

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Lowry Pans New Boone TV Show

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's ambitious "Richard Boone Show," with talented performers, experienced directors and scripts by sound professionals, should be a more interesting anthology series than it most often is.

All dramatic series have their ups and downs. But this one has had a disproportionate number of downs so far this season. Tuesday night's program,

Stanford Raises 100-Million Fund

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Stanford University announced Thursday it has exceeded its $100-million goal in its fund raising campaign.

President Wallace Sterling said he believes the $109,235,101 is the largest single capital fund campaign ever conducted by a university.

The $109.2 million include a $25 million incentive grant from the Ford Foundation, which pledged one dollar for each three raised from private sources.

Tony Curtis Tells How He Quit Cigs

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two film colony views of the smoking crisis— "I can cure anyone of smoking," says Tony Curtis, the Carri Nation of cigarettes. Well, almost anyone. He started with himself a year ago— "before it was so fashionable to quit smoking."

How did he do it?

"One day I decided I wasn't feeling as good as I should," he recalled. "That was on a Sunday. On Monday morning I stopped smoking. I kept telling myself: 'Look, you've gone six hours without a cigarette after 15 years of smoking. Don't you feel good?'"

"And I did feel good. By Monday night I was so elated that I wouldn't think of smoking a cigarette. A pipe or a cigar now and then. Yes. But I never think about cigarettes. I never ask people not to smoke in front of me. I never worry about the smell of the smoke getting to me. I'm through, finished."

He doesn't just let it lie there. He has become a zealot to the cause, turning the "Sex and the Single Girl" set into daily meetings of smokers anonymous.

"So far I've got about 12 people on the set to quit entirely—my stand-in, a prop man, an electrician, two girl stand-ins, etc.," he reported gleefully.

The Curtis method? "Twenty minutes is all I need. I give them 20 minutes of talk that is a combination of persuasion, hypnosis and plain old-fashioned bull."

He follows the initial treatment with daily consultations, progress reports and back-patting and claimed that none of his patients have backslid.

Meanwhile, in another part of the same movie lot, Bette Davis was smoking cigarettes at her usual clip—roughly one every seven minutes.

"The government's report is not exactly new," said the actress, who is making "Where Love Has Gone." "But it does put the facts in official form, and I think it was a very courageous and worthy thing to do."

"Me give up smoking? No, I tried it twice in my life, both times for a month and it was miserable. For one thing, smoking gives me pleasure. For another, I am not a deep inhaler."

"And I've been smoking so long that I'd probably die sooner by giving it up than I would by continuing."

So saying she lit up another.

called "The Hooligan," was a good illustration. It was adapted—with ill-advised freedom—from a Chekhov comedy called "The Bear." The first mistake was to move the Russian writer's characters into the old 10-gallon, six-shooter, G-dropping American wild West. Star Boone played a terrible tempered loudmouth trying to collect some bad debts.

After about 45 minutes of steady shouting and not much action, our hero met up with a widow woman who yelled back. They fell violently in love and were happily smashing furniture and screaming at each other at the fade-out.

It was neither a funny nor interesting hour. It did, however, prove that Boone can learn lines well. He yelled steadily from start to finish, with only time out for the commercials.

An NBC executive, talking up the series last summer, suggested that an "added plus" for the series would be viewer curiosity to see what Boone and members of his repertory company would be up to from week to week.

As it turned out, it has been rather distracting to try to find Harry Morgan behind the handlebar mustache or Bethel Leslie in a dark wig playing a B-girl.

Instead of really rotating the starring parts, Boone has been getting most of the really meaty roles, and some of them just haven't been exactly suited to his talents.

Warren Man Dies as Tree Falls

WARREN, Ark. (AP) — J. E. McNabb, 61, of Vick in Bradley County, was killed near Hilo Wednesday when a tree fell on him while he was cutting logs.

Murrow to Quit U.S. Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edward R. Murrow was reported today to have submitted his resignation as director of the U.S. Information Agency for health reasons.

A USIA spokesman who had denied such a report Wednesday night, referred inquiries today to the White House. Murrow could not be reached immediately for comment.

Murrow underwent a major operation last Oct. 5 in which one lung was removed. It was understood that he took the position that if he were unable to return to full-time duty on the job he would turn in his resignation.

In recent weeks he has been coming to his office for increasingly long periods, and associates had believed he was recuperating well.

A 55-year-old North Carolina native, Murrow was a prominent radio-TV newscaster before President John F. Kennedy appointed him to the USIA post in March of 1961.

Road Men Will Save Artifacts

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Highway Commission agreed Wednesday to consider an Arkansas Archeological Society proposal to save valuable artifacts unearthed during road construction.

Ralph Hale of Camden told the commission similar proposals have been adopted by 11 other states. He asked the commission to work with the University of Arkansas to have rights-of-way for roads surveyed before work on them began.

There would be no delay in the roadbuilding, he said. Hale later told newsmen the federal government would pay 90 per cent of the total annual cost of the project, $20,000.

Extra Tax Is Put Upon Overseas Oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D - Ark., helped the Senate Finance Committee pass 10 to 6 an extra $40 million in taxes on foreign operations of United States oil and gas companies.

It was the first revenue increase voted by the committee in its consideration of the $11 billion tax cut bill.

The committee rejected other proposals to levy higher taxes on the industry.

Titan Hits Target at 5,800 Miles

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —

A Titan 2 missile struck a target 5,800 miles away Wednesday in a successful dual demonstration of its ability to orbit astronauts and deliver a nuclear warhead.

The Air Force said the flight was primarily a weapons test of the United States' most powerful operational rocket. But the vehicle also carried devices applicable to Titan 2's assignment to boost the two-man Gemini spacecraft.

Evidence in for Trial at Malvern

MALVERN, Ark. (AP) — The state and the defense rested their cases Thursday in the first degree murder trial of Lewis Voss, 49, and closing arguments were set for today.

Voss, charged in the shooting of R. E. Norwood, 59, Oct. 1, 1962 has pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

A psychologist and a psychiatrist testified that Voss was under emotional stress and was acutely depressed at the time of the shooting.

Voss testified that he shot Norwood, a lumber dealer, after Norwood advanced on him with a brick. He said he had gone to Norwood's lumber yard to discuss Norwood's foreclosure on his home.

He bought the home from Norwood, Voss said, for $6,500 on the condition that Norwood complete it. Voss said Norwood never finished it, that then he stopped paying for the house, Norwood foreclosed and got a $10,000 judgment against Voss.

Gumbo Will Get Trout by Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Johnson has invited Sen. Allen Ellender to cook up some Louisiana gumbo at the White House.

While the gumbo's cooking, Johnson will mix politics with pleasure and try to stir up some votes for his foreign aid program.

The invitation came Thursday after Johnson pushed a button to lay the keel of the first highly automated ship at a New Orleans shipyard.

After his brief speech, Johnson turned to Ellender and began a discussion of farm problems and foreign aid.

Reporters heard Johnson ask, "When are you going to cook me some of that gumbo I like?"

Ellender, a bachelor, is famous as a chef in preparing Louisiana delicacies. He said he would cook for the President anytime and where Johnson desired.

"There's no better place than the White House," said Johnson. "Let's do it soon. We'll invite some other members of Congress and we can have a good long talk about foreign aid."

THE TWISTED SABER

A novel about BENEDICT ARNOLD by PHILIP VAIL
© 1968 by Philip Vail
Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

By PHILIP VAIL Chapter XXXVI
His hopes were dashed when the British government signed a peace treaty in 1783, thus formally recognizing the independence of the United States.

With England no longer at war with any nation, scores of high-ranking army and navy officers were being retired on half pay. The possibility that Benedict might be recalled to active duty vanished completely.

He began to search for ways to augment his income. The house in Portman Square was expensive to maintain; Peggy would not curb her extravagant tastes; and the cost of raising five sons as gentlemen was a heavy additional burden.

Benedict now conceived the idea of forming a company to engage in trade on a large scale between the West Indian Islands which he had known well before the war and the Canadian provinces of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick where many American Loyalists had settled.

Life in the busy town of St. John, New Brunswick, was grim. From the start Benedict seemed plagued by bad luck. He sailed for Canada in 1785, shortly after the birth of his first daughter, Sophia. He traveled without his family and, hoping to make a quick fortune, built a store on the town's principal business street. But his brig went down in a storm, and months passed before he was able to buy another and pay his first business visit to the West Indian Islands.

Not until the summer of 1787 did he return to England for Peggy and the children and take them to St. John. Peggy made no secret of her loathing for the raw frontier town on the edge of the wilderness. But Benedict thrived on hard work, and, after establishing trading posts in several other towns, he made a number of visits to the Caribbean, and in 1788 even carried a profitable cargo to England.

Another son, George, was born at St. John. Then he returned to England.

One of the greatest revolutionary upheavals in history convulsed the people of France. They killed their king, proclaimed a republic and, on Feb. 1, 1793, declared war against Great Britain.

Benedict was as excited as the youngest recruit. He presented himself promptly at the War Office where officers, born after he was a grown man, looked at him blankly. He held his temper in check, however, and eventually was conducted in Kansas City, however reluctantly, pending court action, seemed to preclude any possibility of such extreme measures.

Finley said he had no idea whether the league's action would worsen his position in future negotiations with the City Council of Kansas City. A member of the City Council said, however, the committee would not seek to take advantage but instead would lean over backward to offer Finley an equitable lease arrangement. He did not say what the offer would be.

Negotiations up to now have been a series of complex wrangles concerning the new lease. The old one expired last Dec. 31.

The main point of disagreement between Finley and the City Council is Finley's insistence that he pay no rent if attendance in any one year falls below 900,000.

Bruce Holes Out in One on 480 Yds.

On Thursday, January 16 in Little Rock Larry Bruce, well-known local golfer, was awarded the Myers Trophy for his U.S. record hole-in-one shot of 480 yards on the No. 5 hole at the Hope Country Club. The feat was accomplished a few weeks ago. Announcer Bud Campbell of station KARK-TV made the presentation on the program, "Little Rock Today."

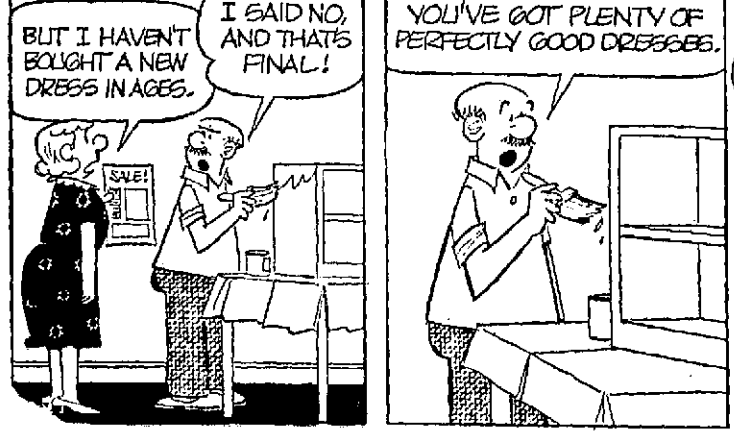

Golf pro Ed Creasy of the Hope Country Club confirmed the shot and said in checking with national authorities Bruce's hole-in-one had been established as a record distance for a par-5 hole.

Hope Cagers Take Bucks By 74 to 62

By CARTER HARDAGE

Taking toll with their devastating full court press, the Bobcats overcame a Fourth Quarter surge to down Smackover 74-62 last night in Jones Field House.

The Bobkittens slammed their opposition 45-29, while the Lady Cats whipped Saratoga in the tournament there 55-48.

A large crowd was on hand to view the pep rally at the high school. Joe Purvis must be credited with much of the boost in attendance, since he made a forceful talk to the student body that made quite a few people decide to attend.

The Bucks began the game in a big way, quickly mounting an 11-2 lead over the stunned Cats. Hope came fighting back, however, after the slow start, and caught them at 12-12 just as the quarter ended.

The Cats continued their drive in the second period, racking their half of the score up to 35, while holding Smackover to 22, with only one field goal.

Racked by fouls, the Cats lost the services of Henley late in the Third Quarter, and Honeycutt as play began in the last period. The score stood 52-44 at the Quarter.

Hope maintained the gap until about four minutes remained and then the Bucks started to make their bid. By the time two minutes had elapsed, Long had sacked another long one to move the threatening Bucks to 62-60. Meanwhile, the crowd went into hysteria.

Dan Jones popped three free tosses in a row to move the Cats out front a little, and the Bucks got rattled; they started fouling profusely, sending Burnett to the charity line for two points and then Reinhardt for one.

Jones ended the game by dunking one as the buzzer went off, to make the final score of 74 to 62.

This is the Bobcats' second conference game. Their record in loop play is 1-1. They have a 8-2 overall card.

Jones was head gunner for the evening with 25 points. Burnett and Honeycutt had 19 each. The Kittens began their game by taking a slight lead, but continued to widen it until they had racked up a final of 45-29. Parris was high with 19.

In the Senior Girls first night in the Saratoga Invitational they bounced Saratoga in the final period and ended up on top 55-48. Shirley Smith sacked 24, Phyllis Martin had 18 and Annette Hatfield had 14.

Tonight the Senior Boys and the Junior Boys travel to Camden. Fans are encouraged to follow them and Boost the Bobcats.

In The Beginning

... God created all things. He gave us science and He gave us religion ... they never conflict. His words and His works harmonize. He can perform both scientific and spiritual miracles. God can take the nucleus, the cell, the molecule and get staggering results. He can also take a body that has almost gone to hell and convert it into a man. The laboratory and the human body are the Lord's work shops. He can pull a switch and set it all to work. He is still saying ... "My thoughts are not as your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways." His church on the corner is a good place to learn that fancied discords blend in perfect harmony. Won't you attend services somewhere this week?

You In The Church
The Church In You
— form a combination
for good. Every man, woman and child needs
the influence of the church. So, come let us go into the house of the Lord. Let us support her program of service to humanity, be a faithful worker and attend services regularly.

THE CHURCHES OF THIS COMMUNITY ARE THE ONLY INSTITUTIONS WHICH HAVE AS THEIR MAIN FUNCTION, THE TRANSFORMING OF HUMAN LIVES. THEY ARE THE SIGN BOARDS POINTING THE WAY TO GOD.

Sponsors of these messages urge faithful church support. Through these pages the appeal is for all men to stand up and be counted ... to combat Communism on all fronts ... to be faithful to God.

OUR PASTORS ARE GOD'S SERVANTS WHO CALL THE SIGNALS AGAINST THE ORGANIZED FORCES OF EVIL. THEY INVITE YOU TO ENLIST ON THE SIDE FOR GOD ...

It is Paid For By Frims Who Hope To Measure Their Reward In Greater Numbers Of People Attending Church.
